About the workshop

'jamovi's a new free, open-source statistical software for data analysis to bridge the gap between a researcher and statistician. The menus and of 'jamovi' are designed to simplify the transition from other softwares and is an alternative to paid statistical packages like SPSS and SAS. The R platform in jamovi is a great feature to learn how to develop Apps and therefore good for employability. 'jamovi' is a clean, human friendly design that facilitates insight into the data and makes the sharing of research work easier.

Objectives

- ❖ To provide an understanding of basic statistical methods required for research
- ❖ To enrich the knowledge in open-source software 'jamovi'
- ❖ To provide step by step procedure to analyze the data by using 'jamovi'

Expected Outcome of the Workshop

- ❖ The participants will be able to identify appropriate statistical methods for their research.
- ❖ The participants will be able to apply 'jamovi' in their research to refine, analyze and visualize the data to get critical insights.
- ❖ The participants will be able to integrate 'jamovi' into the teaching.

Intended participants:

- ✓ Research scholars from commerce, economics and social science background are preferred.
- ✓ Researchers, teachers, and academicians across the country are also welcome.
